

Virtual New Directors Workshop July 13-15, 2021

In order to support new college counseling office directors within our member schools, ACCIS offers the (virtual) New Directors Workshop, an intentional gathering to assist our organization's directors of college counseling (or equivalent titles) who will start the next academic year with 0-3 years of experience in that role. This program is geared toward those with prior college counseling experience in schools; for directors brand new to college counseling in independent schools, the New Counselor Workshop may be the preferred choice, but is not a prerequisite for this program.

Led by a rockstar ACCIS-member faculty team, the workshop balances presentations and content sharing with group discussion and community-building. Sessions will include topics such as:

- Aligning Philosophy, Mission, and Culture
- Internal and External Communication
- Budgeting and Other Office Protocols
- Accountability re: Diversity, Inclusion, and Belonging
- Office Systems and Structures
- Hiring
- Using Data for Board Reports and different audiences
- Leading and re-building post-pandemic
- and More!

There is also time built into the schedule for BREAKS (!!) and for one-on-one conversations that are specific to your individual needs and circumstances through office hours.

Each of the three days of the workshop are scheduled to run from:

1:00 pm - 5:00 pm Eastern Time

10:00 am - 2:00 pm Pacific Time
